BANK CLOSED

First National Bank Will Not Open Its Doors for Business This Morning.

BANK EXAMINER IN CHARGE.

National Bank Examiner Caldwell Speaks of the Causes to "The News."

Immediate Cause of the Failure a Loss of $20,000 on an Indiana Loan.

About $90,000 on Deposit and Probable That It Will Be Fully Paid.

An Effort Will Be Made to Reorganize the Bank and Resume Business.

Last night George B. Caldwell, of Detroit, National bank examiner, locked the doors of the First National bank of this city. He has charge of the assets of the bank and that institution will not open for business today.

The examiner was not at liberty to disclose the amount of the bank's assets but he said the amount due the depositors was $90,000. He would not say, however, whether the depositors would be paid in full or not, but it is generally believed that no depositor will lose a cent by the failure.

The bank has met with some bad luck in the past few years, owing to the depreciation in values. It carried heavy loans on the Buss machine works and the Allmendinger hotel, while the immediate cause of closing was a loss of $20,000 on a loan at Gas City, Ind.

The bank examiner arrived here Wednesday, and Friday morning he sent Vice President Morton of the bank and an attorney of the institution, Victor M. Gbre, to Gas City to secure the loan. Upon advice from Mr. Morton last night that the loan was practically worthless the bank examiner took charge of the bank in the interests of the depositors.

The troubles of the bank began early last summer, about the time James Baley relinquished his position as cashier. Rumors were put in circulation that the bank was in bad shape and there has been a continual drain on the institution ever since. For two months the bank has refused to make any loans and in that time the deposits have shrunk nearly $70,000.

The banking house was the oldest in the city and prior to its incorporation as a national bank in 1890 was known as the bank of Baley Bros. The capital of the bank was $50,000, with a surplus of $40,000. The directors at the present time are: S. A. Baley, J. S. Morton, Milton Hinkley and C. H. Porter.

Many of the largest business firms in the city did their banking with the First National and the immediate effect of the failure is largely problematic. It is thought by those competent to judge that no business interests will suffer on account of the failure.

The examiner will make an effort to reorganize the bank and if that is impossible a receiver will be appointed. He refused to give out the assets and liabilities until receiving instructions from the department.

The failure will cause a great surprise as it becomes generally known.

confidence in the bank and the directors as shown by the fact that in spite of the ugly rumors the bank suffered no drain that approached anything like a "run."

A reporter of THE NEWS called City Treasurer Brown out of bed at midnight and learned that none of the city's funds were in the broken bank. Mr. Brown however had his personal account on deposit there.

Deposits were received yesterday until the closing hour arrived as it was not expected that the bank would close until the dispatch from Gas City was received.

Among the depositors yesterday was the West Michigan railroad company but the amount was only something like $100. The company has deposited every other day in either bank.

THE EXAMINER TALKS.

Says Efforts to Reorganize the Bank Will be Made.

National Bank Examiner George B. Caldwell emerged from the door of the defunct institution at 10 o'clock last night and walked directly to the Hotel Benton where he has been stopping since his arrival in the city Wednesday. Twenty minutes later he was interviewed in his room by an EVENING NEWS representative. Asked concerning the rumor that the bank would close its doors this morning Mr. Caldwell said:

"Yes, the bank is now in my hands, and its doors will not open tomorrow." Mr. Caldwell said the failure was due to bad loans and charged much of the responsibility for the loans to James Baley, the ex-cashier. As a result of the transactions it was necessary to charge off the surplus fund the sum of $35,000 of bad loans, which the examiner charged Mr. Baley with making. The withdrawal of Mr. Baley from the bank some time ago naturally caused uneasiness among the depositors and since that time the bank's deposits have gradually been shrinking and as far as can be determined are now about $90,000.

"The immediate cause of the bank being closed by me," he said, "lies in the result of an investigation started yesterday by which I found that a $20,000 debt of the Thompson Glass company, of Gas City, Ind., was worthless. I sent Attorney Gore and Vice President Morton to Gas City this morning to conduct an investigation and tonight they advised me by wire that they were unable to get the debt secured and that it was of no value as an asset."

"The bank is also burdened with a large amount of real estate taken to secure debts previously contracted which, while it may be worth the amount the bank is indebted for, is not available for

verted at this time into cash without some loss.

"The bank was short in its reserve, the capital seriously impaired and the shareholders of the bank, so far as they could be consulted, were unable to furnish additional help in the way of funds to liquidate the bank and failure was inevitable.

"I have taken charge of the books and assets and will conduct the affairs in the interest of the depositors. I shall make a thorough investigation and report the same to the comptroller of the currency, and perhaps later on some safe and feasible plan can be found whereby the bank can be reorganized and reopened.

"There is no doubt but what this is a good location and if a bank is properly managed it would have a large deposit and prove profitable to the stockholders. I shall remain in charge of the bank for several days and if nothing can be done toward reorganization or liquidation a receiver will have to be appointed."

WILL BE PAID IN FULL.

The Opinion of Ex-Cashier James Baley.

James Baley, ex-cashier of the bank, was seen at his residence late last night by THE NEWS. He had received an intimation that the bank examiner was in the city but he scarcely expected the bank to be closed.

"I do not care to make any statement tonight," said Mr. Baley, "but you can say that in my opinion every depositor will be paid in full."

TURKISH CUSTOM HOUSE.

The Troubles Travelers Have, Especially With Books and Maps.

Many amusing stories are told of the trouble American travelers have had with the custom house authorities in Turkey, especially with books and maps. In the old days one's baggage would be dumped down on the landing place at Constantinople, and a turbaned old Turk, tehbouk in hand, would go through a pantomime of examining one's effects, which would be abruptly brought to an end by the application of an appropriate coin to the palm of his hand. But the political troubles that began some years ago in the Ottoman empire caused the government to institute a more stringent system, and there is now at Constantinople a custom house more after the American style, where a number of effendis, in fezes and Stambouli coats of the regular official cut, pry into one's luggage with particular care in search of papers and books and maps of a revolutionary tendency or in which words forbidden to be printed in Turkey may be found.

During the height of the Armenian agitation especially close search was always made for anything with the word "Armenia" in it, and whatever it was found in was summarily confiscated. On the occasion of my last visit to Constantinople I happened to have a map of Asia Minor among my papers, the discovery of which greatly agitated the examining effendi, who spoke in a language he thought was French. "Ah, Azeez Meenoor!" he exclaimed as he spread it out, continuing in his Turkish-French, "Show me Erzerum." Having pointed out to him the spot where that city was to be found, he began running his finger over the map until he struck upon the letter A. This seemed almost to take his breath away, but when a short distance to the right of it he found the letter R he fairly gasped. The detection of the letter M following it was like an electric shock, and a bomb explosion could not have startled him more than the discovery of the letter E. By the time he had deciphered the remaining letters, NIA, I saw that the game was up, and as he folded up my precious map and in stern and measured syllables announced to me that it was "de-fon-dew, con-fis-kay," I knew that it was lost to me forever. A Review with an article alluding to the disturbed condition of affairs in the Turkish empire followed the map, along with some foreign newspapers.—Harper's Round Table.

THE SUPERNATURAL.

Contact With It Brings Out a Peculiar Kind of Fear.

We wish the Psychological society would one day attempt an analysis of what, for want of a better word, we must call the dread of the supernatural. Both those who believe and those who disbelieve in the notion that the veil between this world and the other is capable of being lifted agree in one thing. They all recognize the fact that most people fear, or something akin to fear, what they believe to be the occurrence of supernatural phenomena. There is here, therefore, a piece of ground which may be explored without any begging of the question as to whether the fear is caused by real ghosts or by trickery, by rats and water pipes or by genuine glimpses of the people of another world. One would like to know whether the fear felt is akin to that experienced when a man is frightened by a runaway horse or a fire or any other imminent risk of life, or whether it is something different in kind.

Speaking broadly and without any minute consideration of the facts, one would say that ghost fright did differ in kind from the fright which comes from active danger. Most people have, we imagine, at some time or other in their lives experienced that eerie, uncanny, creepy feeling which is associated with the possibility of contact with the supernatural. Yet few would declare that it was in any sense connected with the dread of loss of life or limb. The man or woman who wakes up in the middle of the night and hears strange noises—thumps, raps, clangs and creakings—or sees lights or feels the touch of unseen hands is probably very frightened, but the sense of bodily fear is not present. There is no dread of being killed. People in the agony of terror caused by dangerous accidents constantly call out that they are going to be killed, but we doubt if that is ever the case in the fright caused by haunted houses. Possibly this difference may be said to be due to the fact that the dread of the supernatural is not nearly so acute as that caused by the imminent risk of death. People, it may be argued, only imagine themselves to be frightened of ghosts, as women pretend to be frightened of mice. In neither case is the fright quite genuine. It is only want of self control and could be mastered in an instant if the will power were in proper order.

Unfortunately for those who argue thus there is plenty of evidence to show that occasionally the dread of the supernatural produces very serious results. On the whole, we should say that more people had been frightened out of their wits by what they believed to be supernatural phenomena than by accidents involving great risk of life. It is not often that one hears of insanity caused even by the prolonged agony of shipwreck. The fear caused by what is supposed to be a supernatural agency seems, then, to have in it some element not found in ordinary fear. If the haunting phenomena cause fear, they seem to give a shock of special keenness. —London Spectator.

Best Time to Sleep.

In view of the many changes which have been rung on the early to bed, early to rise idea, the following opinion from an eminent medical authority ought to be of interest. He takes up the old statement that an hour before midnight is worth two hours after and gives his opinion as follows: "I had an opportunity to make some study of this subject in my naval service during the late war. On shipboard, as is undoubtedly known to most of you, the ship's company—officers and men alike—stand four hour watches day and night, and to get the required amount of rest are obliged to get their sleep irregularly. To so arrange it that the same man shall not be obliged to take early or late watches continually, the 'dog watch' of two hours is interpolated, thus adding to the irregularity. In watching the results for over two years I could never discover that the watch, officers and men, were not as fully refreshed by their sleep as were the medical and pay officers, who stand no watch and have hours as regular as those of any household. It seems to make but little difference to those who have given careful attention to this subject whether people sleep at one time or another, so that they get a sufficient amount of sleep. —New York Ledger.

A Brave Man.

Nicolas, Chevalier d'Assas, a French captain in the Auvergne regiment, born at Vigan in the Languedoc, while making a reconnaissance during the night of Oct. 15, 1760, at Klostercamp in Westphalia, met a column of the enemy which was advancing in silence to surprise the French army. He was ordered to keep silent or else they would kill him. D'Assas at once cried out, "A moi Auvergne—the enemy is here!" He was killed on the spot. —Bouillet's Dictionary of History.

In Austria the man who loses both his hands in an accident can claim the whole of his life insurance money, on the ground that he has lost the means of maintaining himself. But if the right hand remains the claim is lost.

An old member of the South Mountain Rod and Gun club was talking off a few solemn and inspiring truths for the benefit of several younger members. "When I was a boy," he was saying, "I was about like other boys. I guess, only I think I had better notions than some have I know of now. Now, there's my son!"

"Oh," interrupted one of the listeners, "you don't want to take a boy handicapped like that."

"Don't you worry about me," retorted the veteran. "That boy will be all the greater for winning with the handicap. Let me tell you about his marksmanship. One day last winter he went out with me to hunt rabbits, and the luck was poor. We had been out about four hours, and all of a sudden a great big rabbit like a calf jumped up right at his feet—the boy's feet, I mean—and the boy kicked him one in the ribs and knocked him out in a minute. Well, we were three or four miles from home, and we thought we might as well take up our game and tote it in and come out again when there was something more in sight. We jogged along, the boy carrying the rabbit in his game bag, till somehow it kind of came to and was about to get away, when I noticed it.

"Here," said I, thinking of something, 'it won't ever do to take that home and tell the folks you kicked it to death. It's got to be shot, and we might as well do it now as any other time.'

"So I gets out a string and ties it to the rabbit's hind leg, and I hangs him on the limb of a tree, and the boy gets off about 50 yards with a rifle to make it kind of sporty, and, after sighting a long time, bang! goes the gun, down comes the rabbit, and the way he skinned out for the short timber was a caution to winged fowls, for he fairly flew. I looked at the rabbit for about a second, and then I gazed on that boy.

"What in thunder—I began, when he interrupted me.

"Oh, I say, pop," he said, 'did you see my marksmanship? That string to the rabbit's hind leg wasn't thicker than a darning needle, and blam! if I didn't cut it off clean at 50 yards with a rifle. Have you got a record like that, guv'nor?'

"Had I? Of course I hadn't, and that boy had just gone to work and missed that rabbit and by a chance cut the string and let the cottontail get away, that was all. But what could I say after that marksmanship snap he dropped on me? Nothing, and I had to let it go at that. Now, what have you got to say to that boy's handicap? Say!" —Washington Star.

Not Stiff.

The Cosmopolitan publishes a "new rendering of the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam" and declares, referring to Richard Le Gallienne as the responsible party, that "these quatrains will assure to him a leading place among living English poets." What the literary world has been famished for, what it has craved with intense craving, is a new version of the Rubaiyat, and what would represent its wildest dreams is a version prepared by the distinguished oriental scholar, Richard Le Gallienne, who has already given to the world some ecstatic prose fancies and possesses the finest shock of hair in Great Britain. It is true that the Rubaiyat has been "done" into English by several gentlemen of literary ability and respectable scholarship. There was, for example, a Mr. Fitzgerald, who has obtained a little temporary notoriety through some very pretty jingles on Omar's wine cup and roses, but the result was not satisfactory either to Mr. Le Gallienne or to the editors of The Cosmopolitan, and to this fact we are indebted for such lines as these:

Like to a maid who exquisitely turns
A promising face to him who, waiting, burns
In hell to hear her answer, so the world Tricks all and hints what no man ever learns.

We believe that we are justified in saying that a man who is burning in hell while a maid is exquisitely turning a promising face to him who is known colloquially as "hot stuff," considerably warmer than anything Mrs. Wilcox has dished up in late years. We congratulate The Cosmopolitan on its success in securing Mr. Le Gallienne's quatrains, and we have only words of admiration for Mr. Le Gallienne's brilliant idea. We hope that he may feel encouraged by the eager applause of the literary public to persevere on present lines and give us other amended versions of the ancient poets. —Chicago Post.

No Fudging.

Apocryph of an alleged ratification after majority of a debt contracted during infancy by admitting that it was a just debt and promising to pay if the debtor ever got so that he could without inconvenience, the court in a late North Carolina case says this recalled to the minds of some members of the court a settlement of accounts which may with propriety be preserved as history in the judicial annals of the state. A debtor named Huggins, when solicited to close an old open account by note, agreed to do so provided he should be allowed to draft the instrument and accordingly presented the creditor the following:

"I, John Huggins, agree to pay James James $150 whenever convenient, but it is understood that Huggins is not to be pushed. Witness my hand and seal this the — day of —, John Huggins. (Seal.)" —Case and Comment.

JOHN F. MURRAY, Commander.

A barrister's fees are small, and they are always paid in advance, and the sum is recorded under the title of the brief. A friend who has a large practice showed me his feebook yesterday. The largest item was 88 guineas, which is less than $200. The average was about $50. Fees are regulated by the benchers of the inn according to the service performed, and no contingent fees are allowed. A barrister may accept a case for nothing or return the fee in cases of charity, but he cannot without violating his oath, directly or indirectly, accept any greater compensation for a legal service than is allowed in the regular schedule fixed by the benchers of his inn. If he does so, he is debarred from practice.

It is a common custom in America for a lawyer to undertake a suit for the recovery of damages or a claim of any kind with a contract that he shall receive a certain percentage of the amount of money recovered. In England such an act would be considered disreputable, and any barrister found guilty would be expelled from his inn. The fees are regulated by the amount of time and labor required, and not by the amount of money involved. A barrister may receive a fee of $250 in a case involving only $500, and he may receive a fee of $25 in a case involving $1,000.

All legal business originates with so-licitors. They bring to the barrister's office a case all prepared after certain forms and written in manuscript. The British courts do not permit typewrit-
ing. The solicitor requests the barrister to undertake the case, and the fee is marked plainly upon the brief. If the barrister does not care to undertake the labor for the amount of money allowed or for any other reason, he advises the solicitor to go elsewhere. If he accepts the responsibility, the solicitor leaves the amount of the fee in coin with the brief, so that the barrister has his pay in advance. This is the almost invariable custom. The only exceptions are in cases of close friendship between the solicitors and barristers and where there is a large amount of litigation in which both are involved. Then it is customary for the barrister to make up his bill at the end of the month or the end of the quarter, but the fee in each case must nevertheless be written upon the brief and recorded in the books of the court.

It is customary, also, for the solicitor
to leave a fee for the barrister's clerk
at the same time, which must be a certain percentage of that paid to the barrister. When you dine at a hotel or a restaurant in England, it is customary to tip the waiter an amount equal to 5 per cent of your bill for the same reason.
The waiter receives no compensation from his employer, nor does the barrister's clerk. His pay comes entirely from the clients, and if his principal has no clients he gets no pay. On the other hand, if his principal has a very large and profitable practice his fees are enormous. They say that the clerk of Sir Charles Russell lives in a handsome villa down in the suburbs, is driven to and from his office in a brougham and hires a box at the opera for the season.—Chicago Record.

No More of It For Him.

He entered the shop of a fashionable bootmaker, a look of determination on his face. It was such a look as one sees on the face of a man who is firmly resolved to carry out, at all hazards, a decision which will change the whole course of his life.

"H'm!" he began as the assistant stepped forward and politely questioned
him as to his requirements in feet beautifiers. "I want a pair of shoes for my wife, Mrs. Brown."

"Yes, sir, certainly," said the young man briskly. "Same style and size as last week?"

"Same style. Size, five—wide five," replied Brown decidedly.

"But—er—excuse me. Mrs. Brown only takes—that is, she usually has 3 1/2," exclaimed the assistant, who knew the lady well.

"Are you married, young man?"
queried Brown sternly, the look of determination deepening on his careworn features.

"Er—not yet, sir," answered the shopman, blushing.

"I thought not," returned Brown.
"I am! I am not going to suffer half an hour's purgatory every morning, watching a woman trying to squeeze a bushel of feet into a peck of boots. I've stood it long enough, and I'm going to take her a pair that will fit."—Pearson's Weekly.

Making Things Clear.

An old Peabody worthy and an English lady were one day recently occupants of a railway carriage in an Edinburgh bound train. The train had been waiting long at a certain station, and there was no appearance of its starting,
when the worthy remarked, "They're a gay teagosome lot here."

"I beg your pardon," said the lady.

"I'm sayin' they're an awfu' daidlin squad here," said the old fellow.

"I really beg your pardon, sir," she rejoined.

"I'm remarkin' they're a vera dreich lot here the night," the old gentleman further ventured.

"Really, I must again beg your pardon," said the lady, with marked embarassment, "but I do not comprehend you."

"I was just trying to say the train was late," he finally blurted.

"Indeed, sir, it is very late," agreed
the lady.

And the conversation collapsed.—
Dundee News.

Good Looks Go a Great Way.

"Miss Higgins is a beautiful singer, isn't she?"

"Yes. That was what made her popular at the concert."

A SMALL MAN'S REVENGE.

He Regains the Dignity of Two Women in a Cable Car.

The small sized, unobtrusive man gets revenge now and then, as was exemplified yesterday in a Broadway cable car bound down town. He got on at Twenty-third street and saw only one vacant seat. Other passengers who stood up were clinging to the straps in a semihypnotic condition and did not observe the vacant place. Two women, strangers to each other, richly clad and wearing diamond earrings, were the guardians of the vacant space, which was hardly wide enough to even admit
the small man to a comfortable seat.
Either of the women, by moving a little, could have made a larger space, but they chose to sit as impassive as statues while the diminutive man crowded into the place. He exhibited all the signs of being uncomfortable,
but these implacable cosmopolitans moved not. At Tenth street a large woman, weighing about 200 pounds, boarded the car. With the air of a Chesterfield the small man lifted his hat and said:

"Pray, take my seat."

"Thank you, sir," she replied as she started to sit down. Consternation was depicted upon the faces of the two richly clad women as they tried to edge away to make the space wider. It was too late, for the heavy woman crushed into the seat and came in contact with the other women. There were the noise of crumpling cloth and the swish of
skirts as the two women tried to move from the weight pinning part of their dresses down. It was a scramble to give the heavy woman enough room, and all dignity was lost. The passengers smiled, and none more so than the small man, who had had his revenge.—New York Commercial.

Mario Antoinette's Books.

The unhappy Queen Mario Antoinette possessed an important library of 4,713 volumes, consisting of plays and romances, little books a la mode, the works of Pascal, Bossuet, Fenelon, Bourdieu, Massillon, Boileau, Couseaux, Corneille, Moliere, Voltaire and many others. She loved music passionately and had a large collection of operas in 89 numbers. The bindings were by Blaizot and were uniform in red morocco, with the arms of France and Austria stamped upon them. The execution of the work was poor, and the decadence in the art of binding evident. The glories of the art of Padeloup and the Deromes had passed away, and the revolution effectually killed whatever knowledge remained of the ancient skill of the bookbinders. Half a century later saw its revival in France, and the art has since flourished both there and on English soil.—Gentleman's Magazine.

Couldn't Fool Mamma.

Mrs. Younglove—Oh, I am sure that my husband has never told me a lie in his life.

Her Mother—My poor child! You are married to a hypnotist.—Cleveland Leader.

The air is so clear in the arctic regions that conversation can be carried on easily by persons two miles apart. It has also been asserted on good authority that at Gibraltar the human voice has been distinctly heard at a distance of ten miles.

Cleverness is serviceable for everything, sufficient for nothing.—Amiel.

Plane Lessons.

New and old pupils of Mrs. F. B.
Cary are again at work and after the summer vacation are showing renewed vigor and interest. Former pupils who have not already begun can have their old lesson hours. New pupils will find it to their advantage to make application early as the thorough training may be done and completed. Hours of instruction from Monday to Friday, from 10 o'clock to 12 o'clock, and from 2 o'clock to 4 o'clock.

LONDON'S PAST PLEASURES.

How its inhabitants amused themselves a Century or Two Ago.

The Londoner in the long past might retire to Bagnigge Wells, near the present King's Cross, or Florida gardens, Brompton (Brompton was noted 100 years ago for its "salubrious air"), or the Marylebone gardens and Bowling Green, mentioned by Pepys as "a pretty place" so long ago as 1668, or the Baywater Tea gardens, which flourished till after the middle of the present century, there to sit in a summer house overgrown with honeysuckle and sweetbrier, drinking tea, then held in much esteem as a fashionable beverage, and eating cheese cakes, "heart cakes," Chelsea buns, syllabubs, jellies, creams, hot loaves, rolls and butter, while a band performed a concerto by Corelli or the last new composition by Mr. Handel, "The Master of Musick," as a singer gave the last new song by Dr. Arne. Afterward his visitors might enjoy the privilege of drinking new milk from the cow and picking flowers and fruit, "fresh every hour in the day," a great attraction, doubtless, for Londoners at a period when fruit and flowers were neither so cheap nor so abundant in the metropolis as they are at present. Nor were more artificial amusements lacking. In addition to illuminations, fireworks and masquerades, attended by the world of fashion from princes downward, there were miscellaneous entertainments of every sort.

A high scaffolding was erected in Marylebone gardens in 1786 for a predicator of Blondin called "the flying man," who was advertised to fly down on a rope pushing a wheelbarrow before him. In May, 1785, Lunardi, the first aeronaut who went up in a balloon in England and was quaintly called "the first aerial traveler in English atmosphere" by contemporary prints, descended unexpectedly one afternoon in the Adam and Eve Tea gardens in the neighborhood of Tottenham Court road, then a resort of fashion, and was uppermost welcomed by the populace to acknowledgment of his flight. Later on aeronautic flights became a special feature of all these pleasure gardens.

Japanese English.

The Rev. Masazo Kagaren brought me a present of a tin of native preserved apricots put up at Nagano, bearing the inscription, "This apricot is very sweetest." Another tin—I think it was a sort of Japanese "Liebig"—was still more remarkably inscribed: "All the medicines of our company used to sell are not only manufactured of the pure and good material, but also, unless the article are inspected by the superintendent, they not sealed. It is true that their quality is best. If there was suspicion about it, trust on official examination. If even in the slightest neglect the result is not good, our company should be responsible for it. Beware the trademark, sealing wax and wrapper of our company." In this connection I may remark on the curious signs in English (?) composed in cheerful independence of outside help. I have seen the equivalent of the English "mangling done here" rendered "the machine for smoothing the wrinkles in the trousers" and "Washman, ladies only,"
"Clothing of woman tailor, ladies furnished in upper story," "Instructed by the French horse leech," (this adorned the door of a veterinary surgeon and referred to the tuition under which the gentleman was trained). — From "Mountaineering in the Japanese Alps," by Rev. Walter Weston.

Inopportune Shelling.

The troops were storming a temple or a palace, and O'Shaughnessy stopped before a mirror and stood twirling his mustache and admiring himself, though the bullets were whistling round him.
"Bedad, Shaugh," he said to himself, with a grin, "ye're a fine figure of a man."

Crash came a bit of lead, which starred the said mirror into a thousand cracks, quite obliterating Shaugh's features.

"Bedad," said he coolly, "ye've sp'iled a foine view that I had of meself." — London Mail.

The Minister's Mistake.

In a rural parish in the Mearns an Aberdeen divine, who had driven over in a hired vehicle, occupied the pulpit.
Only one person attended service, and the minister apologized for the length of his discourse. His audience signified his approval of his preaching, and the minister continued. Guess his consternation when he discovered his audience consisted of his driver, who had been engaged by the hour. — Edinburgh Dispatch.

The people of the United States read and support as many newspapers as England, France and Germany combined.

THE FAILURE.

Latest News in Regard to the Bank Suspension.

No Official Statement Will Be Made Until Monday.

Belief That the Bank Will Pay Dollar for Dollar.

A Sodus Man the Heaviest Depositor, Sum $7,000.

Shortly before 9 o'clock this morning the following notice was posted upon the closed doors of the First National bank of this city:

I have closed this bank in the interest of depositors. Parties owing the bank on past due and maturing obligations or over-drafts should call and pay the same. Pass books should be handled in that they may be balanced and checks returned. Parties having business with the bank will be admitted during banking hours commencing Monday, September 20.

GEORGE B. CALDWELL,
National Bank Examiner.

Not more than twenty persons knew of the bank failure before informed of the particulars by the extra edition of THE EVENING NEWS which appeared on the streets at 5:30 this morning. The announcement carried with it consternation and surprise. As the newsboys visited different parts of the city women wept and men sighed as they bought and read the unwelcome story. Many women declared the bank held their all and would scarcely believe that really the bank was broken.

Hundreds of people gathered during the day and the majority silently read the sign on the door and passed on with downcast look. Everyone was seeking some special information but the national bank examiner was busy with the books of the bank and could not be reached by those anxious to ply him with questions. Now and then some angry depositor would appear but there was nothing approaching anything like a demonstration.

The patriotism and local pride of the citizens saved the bank from failure weeks ago and it was hoped that this might pull the institution through. Scores of business men had repeatedly been told of the unsafe condition of the bank in the past few months but the business men reasoned that any bank could be wrecked if the depositors should make a run upon it. Consequently they stuck by the bank though their well-meaning efforts were of no avail.

The Farmers and Merchants bank, one of the strongest and most conservative institutions in the state, is making every effort to accommodate all the business men of the city and it will not, if possible, allow any of the interests of the city to suffer. The bank received a large amount of deposits from the old customers of the First National bank today. The Rounds & Warner bank also received many new customers.

WILL BE PAID IN FULL.

Assistant Cashier Welton Thinks There is No Doubt of It.

Frank A. Welton, assistant cashier of the First National bank by title but really the cashier of the bank, has been sick for two days but was able to be down town today. He understands the condition of the bank thoroughly and said today that he believed that the depositors of the bank would be paid 100 cents on the dollar. He also said that no business house would be seriously crippled by the suspension.

BANK MAY RESUME.

A Plan for Reorganization May Be Figured Out.

One of the officials of the bank said today that it was probable that a plan of reorganization would be effected, that the depositors would be paid and the business resumed in the near future.

MR. PECK HAD TO PAY.

He Had Money in the Bank But It Wouldn't Pay.

Last Saturday C. J. Peck sent a check of $20 to a firm of Rockford manufacturers. It was returned for payment to the First National bank this morning. Although Mr. Peck has about $200 on deposit in the defunct bank the check was presented to him for payment in cash otherwise it would be returned. Mr. Peck paid.

DOES NOT AFFECT COLOMA.

Coloma, Ball & Son, proprietors, has used Benton Harbor's First National bank as a clearing house since its foundation over a year ago, until within a week, when accounts were transferred to the Bankers' National bank, Chicago, which institution will hereafter be the correspondent of our bank. This change is fortunate for the bank of Coloma in view of the First National failure, for large sums have been on deposit with the Benton Harbor institution, which if now involved, might seriously cripple Coloma's bank. The village and its bankers are to be congratulated.

DEPOSIT OF $7,000.

Alfred Scherer of Sodus the Largest of the Depositors.

Attorney A. L. Hammond spent some time this forenoon with the examiner and officers of the defunct First National bank. Mr. Hammond was allowed admittance through the rear door of the bank as he is the attorney of Alfred Scherer, of Sodus, who has $7,000 and is the largest depositor in the bank. Mr. Scherer is guardian for Luke Scherer and the $7,000 belongs to the latter's estate.

Mr. Hammond was given every opportunity to investigate the condition of the bank and he was satisfied that unless the losses of the bank exceeded $66,000 that the depositors would be fully paid. The stockholders expect to receive from 30 to 40 per cent on their shares.

The bank examiner would give no official opinion but he expressed the private opinion that the depositors would lose nothing. The exact condition of the institution will be better known when the books and securities are all investigated, which will not be before tonight. As soon as that is done a statement will be made public, but probably not before Monday morning.

The bank has only a $4,000 interest in the Buss works, and a $12,000 or $14,000 interest in the flouring mill property. It has a deed to the Hotel Allmendinger property and that property figures in its real estate assets.

Among the other heavy depositors were Alderman Butzback, the Benton fuel company, S. E. Daigneau, the Eastman Springs street railway company and County Treasurer Clark had a deposit of $1,000.

A BLOW AT DEAM.

He is Ordered to Deliver Up the Combination of the Tunnel Road Safe.

JOHN BELL IS MADE CUSTODIAN

Sweeping Order by Judge Coolidge Filed in the Circuit Court This Afternoon.

An order made by Judge Coolidge and stipulating that Henry D. Deam, vice president of the Benton Harbor Electric Railway & Transit company, deliver the combination of the company's safe to John Bell, who is made custodian of the safe and its contents by the order, was filed in the circuit court this afternoon. The order says:

"It appearing to this court that the books and records of the Benton Harbor Electric Railway & Transit company are now locked up in the safe in the company's office and that none of the officers have access to them, nor any opportunity to inspect the same, and it also appearing that an application for the appointment of a receiver is now pending and it is desirable that some reliable and disinterested party shall have the custody of the safe, books and records during the pending of said application, and said officers shall have an opportunity to inspect said books and papers in the presence of such disinterested party.

"Now, therefore, it is ordered that John Bell of Benton Harbor have the authority to take the custody of said safe, records, books and papers of the said company till the further order of the court. The said Bell may allow the officers of the company and the attorneys of the parties to the suit to inspect and examine the books and records in a reasonable way in his presence.

"It is further ordered that Henry D. Deam deliver the combination to the safe, if he has the same, to John Bell within two days after service of a copy of this notice upon him or his solicitor so that said Bell can open said safe."

It is expected that the order will be served on Deam or one of his attorneys this afternoon as he is known to be in the city.

Salisbury Turns the Wrangle Concerning the Seals Over to the Colonial Secretary.

BRITISH VIEW OF THE MATTER.

Chamberlain puts in a General Denial of the imputations of the Sherman Letter to May, Declares That England Has Gone Beyond the Paris Award Requirements as to Seal Protection, and Indulges in a Few Imputations of His Own.

London, Sept. 18.—The Times this morning publishes the gist of the correspondence between Secretary Sherman and Lord Salisbury in the Behring sea controversy. The book covers a period beginning with 1895 and ending with July 30 of the present year. Altogether there are 107 dispatches, which show that the United States has pressed for revision since January, 1896. The Times remarks "Though Mr. Sherman so far forgot himself as to sign the famous dispatch we cannot suppose that he actually wrote it." Only the concluding paragraph of the dispatch is republished, all the terms deemed discourteous being omitted. The Times then adds: "Lord Salisbury wisely refrained from answering the dispatch in detail. He confined himself to imparting a short note to Ambassador Hay, dated July 28, 1897, stating that the government was willing to agree to a meeting of the experts in October, preferably in Washington, and that other portions of Mr. Sherman's dispatch, in so far as they required any reply from her majesty's government, had been answered by anticipation in dispatches he [Lord Salisbury] had addressed to Sir Julian Pauncefote on April 22 and May 7, which had been communicated to the government of the United States on July 28."

Reply to Sherman's Famous Letter. In a long letter from the colonial office to the foreign office, signed Edward Wingfield, occupying four columns of small print, The Times deals with Sherman's dispatch in detail. In this document, which is prepared by Chamberlain, the latter points out that Sherman's contention that the extermination of fur bearing seals has been practically accomplished cannot have come to pass, as in that case there would be nothing at all to form the subject matter of negotiation. The document proceeds: "Lord Salisbury pointed out in May that the English interests had for some years exceeded the American in the fur sealing industry. It cannot, therefore, be for the advantage of the British government or those whom it represents that the seals should be exterminated. The dispatch explains that the object of the conference is to arrive, if possible, at correct conclusions respecting the numbers, conditions and habits of the seals frequenting the Pribyloff island at the present time as compared with several seasons previous to and subsequent to the Paris award. But it must be clearly understood that this limited inquiry does not involve an assent to Mr. Sherman's strange misconceptions."

CHAMBERLAIN'S REPLY TO SHERMAN.

Declaration That Johnny Bull Has Gone Farther Than Treaty Requirements.

Chamberlain contends that Great Britain has taken adequate measures—much more complete in some directions than those adopted by the United States—for securing the enforcement of the Paris regulations, and says it was never intended by the tribunal of arbitration that United States officers should be given the power of supervising and controlling the action of British naval and customs officers with regard to the inspection of skins. He contends that the British government has even exceeded the limits of its strict obligations as far as was possible without injury to the interests of those it was bound to protect. The government, he continues, has not omitted to enact legislation necessary to secure the conviction of the guilty; but it has refused to pass legislation certain to embarrass and injure the innocent. It has refused to seek legislation authorizing the inspection of skins because it does not believe such inspection would serve any useful purpose.

The British government, he asserts, has performed with the utmost rigor all the requirements of the award; but it has had to make "continued unavailing protests against the attempts of the United States to hamper and embarrass the operations of British subjects pursuing their lawful vocation. But the fact that in spite of those embarrassments British sealers have been able to prosecute the industry successfully has led to continual effort by the United States to obtain such further regulations as would effectively prevent that result, without regard to the objects of the award."

The colonial office dispatch concludes as follows: "The government has never argued that the regulations are perfect; but it has maintained that before they can be scientifically revised accurate information as to the increase or decrease of the herd must be made available. Such information is only obtainable by accurate observations extending over a period sufficient to enable accidental circumstances to be eliminated. As soon as that is at hand the government is ready to enter upon a discussion of the question in the impartial and friendly spirit with which the government can confidently claim it has acted throughout the entire controversy."

Appointed by the President. Washington, Sept. 18.—The president yesterday made the following appointments: George D. Pettit, of Pittsburgh, consul at Dusseldorf, Germany; A. Lark Tonner, of Canton, O., assistant commissioner of Indian affairs; Edwin D. Cox, pension agent at Milwaukee; Dewey H. George, agent for the Indians of the Green Bay Agency in Wisconsin. In the list of nominations was a cousin of President McKinley and also one of Vice President Hobart, Frederick E. McKinley becoming receiver of public moneys at Guthrie, O. T., and Edward F. Hobart, who was a candidate for governor of the territory, receiver of public moneys at Cheyenne, Wyo.

MORE NEW CASES AT NEW ORLEANS
One Death Also Reported, Making Two So Far.—Location of the Cases Now Covers All Sections of the City, But the Health Officers Keep Up Their Hope That They Can Combat the Epidemic—Fifteen New Cases at Edwards, Mississippi.
New Orleans, Sept. 18.—The fever situation in New Orleans yesterday assumed a somewhat more serious aspect than at any time since Sunday, when six of the St. Claude cases were declared to be yellow fever. At 6 o'clock last evening the board of health officially announced the appearance of eight new cases, and of these one death, that of Zena Brauner. At the office of the board of health the reports were considered somewhat surprising and disappointing. The situation had so materially improved Thursday night that it was felt that pretty much the worst had come, and that conditions would improve. Thursday, however, was one of the hottest days of the month, and as yellow fever thrives in that character of weather there seems to have been a rapid development of germs. The physicians still feel that there is much that is satisfactory in the situation.

One Fact That Is Significant. It is true that the new cases represent the extreme upper, the extreme lower and central portions of the city, but there has been no serious spread from the original foci, and the opinion is still expressed that the disease may be controlled and that there is no imminent danger of an epidemic. Secretary Patton, of the board, said last evening: "The appearance of eight cases today is not necessarily alarming. I said three evenings ago that the prospects seemed to point to the development here of a least fifty cases as a result of constant intercourse we have been having with the infected towns on the gulf coast and the fact that a promiscuous throng of some 700 or 800 people had hastened into the city on the Monday evening following the declaration of the Ocean Springs sickness to be yellow fever."

Takes a Hopeful View. "We have had now twenty-eight cases and two deaths. The majority of the remaining cases are improving. It is still quite likely that there will appear numerous cases in New Orleans, but the situation is not distressing and the chances of a disastrous epidemic are remote."

Zena Brauner, of Webster and Second streets, Carrollton, is the death reported. The Brauner case was first brought to the attention of the board early in the week. Close attention had been given it, but while the symptoms justified suspicion they were not sufficiently aggravated to warrant an absolute declaration that the case was yellow fever.

AT THE OTHER FEVER CENTERS.

One Death at Mobile, Nineteen Cases at Biloxi—Increasing at Edwards. Mobile, Ala., Sept. 18.—Yesterday's report shows no increase in the ratio of cases and but one additional death, that of J. L. Taylor, a bricklayer, who came here from West Virginia four weeks ago. The quarantine against Mobile has increased in severity. Scranton had no new cases of yellow fever there yesterday. The cases previously reported are reported improving.

New Orleans, Sept. 18.—The report of the board of health at Biloxi yesterday says that there are nineteen cases of actual yellow fever under treatment with diagnosis reserved as to twelve cases. There were seven new cases reported in the twenty-four hours ending Thursday. Ocean Springs, Miss., Sept. 18.—The situation here is not encouraging. Several of the dengue patients have taken a turn for the worse, although none of them are considered as critically ill. There were seven new cases of the prevailing fever reported yesterday. Total number now sick twenty-five. At Augusta, Miss., Rev. T. S. Powell, of Brandon, died of yellow fever.

Vicksburg, Miss., Sept. 18.—Yesterday's report from Edwards gave fifteen new cases of yellow fever. Cairo, Ill., Sept. 18.—Two men were taken suddenly ill yesterday at Point Pleasant and brought to the city and placed in the Marine hospital. The physicians have not declared them to be suffering from yellow fever, but they are being treated as suspects.

FROM THIS MORNING'S EVENING NEWS EXTRA.

BANK CLOSED

First National Bank Will Not Open Its Doors for Business This Morning.

Immediate Cause of the Failure a Loss of $20,000 on an Indiana Loan.

About $90,000 on Deposit and Probable That It Will Be Fully Paid.

An Effort Will Be Made to Reorganize the Bank and Resume Business.

Last night George B. Caldwell, of Detroit, National bank examiner, locked the doors of the First National bank of this city. He has charge of the assets of the bank and that institution will not open for business today.

The examiner was not at liberty to disclose the amount of the bank's assets but he said the amount due the depositors was $90,000. He would not say, however, whether the depositors would be paid in full or not, but it is generally believed that no depositor will lose a cent by the failure.

The bank has met with some bad luck in the past few years, owing to the depreciation in values. It carried heavy loans on the Buss machine works and the Allmendinger hotel, while the immediate cause of closing was a loss of $20,000 on a loan at Gas City, Ind.

The bank examiner arrived here Wednesday, and Friday morning he sent Vice President Morton of the bank and the attorney of the institution, Victor M. Gore, to Gas City to secure the loan. Upon advice from Mr. Morton last night that the loan was practically worthless the bank examiner took charge of the bank in the interests of the depositors.

The troubles of the bank began early last summer, about the time James Bailey relinquished his position as cashier. Rumors were put in circulation that the bank was in bad shape and there has been a continual drain on the institution ever since. For two months the bank has refused to make any loans and in that time the deposits have shrunk nearly $70,000.

The banking house was the oldest in the city and prior to its incorporation as a national bank in 1890 was known as the bank of Bailey Bros. The capital of the bank was $50,000, with a surplus of $40,000. The directors at the present time are: S. A. Bailey, J. S. Morton, Milton Hinkley and C. H. Porter.

Many of the largest business firms in the city did their banking with the First National and the immediate effect of the failure is largely problematic. It is thought by those competent to judge that no business interests will suffer on account of the failure.

The examiner will make an effort to reorganize the bank and if that is impossible a receiver will be appointed. He refused to give out the assets and liabilities until receiving instructions from the department.

The failure will cause a great surprise as it becomes generally known this morning. The people had great confidence in the bank and the directors as shown by the fact that in spite of the ugly rumors the bank suffered no drain that approached anything like a "run."

night and learned that none of the city's funds were in the broken bank. Mr. Brown however had his personal account on deposit there.

Deposits were received yesterday until the closing hour arrived as it was not expected that the bank would close until the dispatch from Gas City was received.

Among the depositors yesterday was the West Michigan railroad company but the amount was only something like $100. The company has deposited every other day in either bank.

THE EXAMINER TALKS.

Says Efforts to Reorganize the Bank Will Be Made.

National Bank Examiner George B. Caldwell emerged from the door of the defunct institution at 10 o'clock last night and walked directly to the Hotel Benton where he has been stopping since his arrival in the city Wednesday. Twenty minutes later he was interviewed in his room by an EVENING NEWS representative. Asked concerning the rumor that the bank would close its doors this morning Mr. Caldwell said:

Mr. Caldwell said the failure was due to bad loans and charged much of the responsibility for the loans to James Bailey, the ex-cashier. As a result of the transactions it was necessary to charge off the surplus fund the sum of $35,000 of bad loans, which the examiner charged Mr. Bailey with making. The withdrawal of Mr. Bailey from the bank some time ago naturally caused uneasiness among the depositors and since that time the bank's deposits have gradually been shrinking and so far as can be determined are now about $90,000.

"The immediate cause of the bank being closed by me," he said, "lies in the result of an investigation started yesterday by which I found that a $20,000 debt of the Thompson Glass company, of Gas City, Ind., was worthless. I sent Attorney Gore and Vice President Morton to Gas City this morning to conduct an investigation and tonight they advised me by wire that they were unable to get the debt secured and that it was of no value as an asset."

"The bank is also burdened with a large amount of real estate taken to secure debts previously contracted which, while it may be worth the amount the bank has invested, is not available for paying depositors and cannot be converted at this time into cash without some loss."

"The bank was short in its reserve, the capital seriously impaired and the shareholders of the bank, so far as they could be consulted, were unable to furnish additional help in the way of funds to liquidate the bank and failure was inevitable."

good location and if a bank is properly managed it would have a large deposit and prove profitable to the stockholders. I shall remain in charge of the bank for several days and if nothing can be done toward reorganization or liquidation a receiver will have to be appointed."

WILL BE PAID IN FULL.

The Opinion of Ex-Cashier James Bailey.

James Bailey, ex-cashier of the bank, was seen at his residence late last night by THE NEWS. He had received an intimation that the bank examiner was in the city but he scarcely expected the bank to be closed.

"I do not care to make any statement tonight," said Mr. Bailey, "but you can say that in my opinion every depositor will be paid in full."

DISTRICTS REDUCED

Michigan Conference Will Hereafter Have But Seven Districts.

KALAMAZOO, Sept. 18.—The Michigan Methodist conference has reduced its number of presiding elder districts from nine to seven. The city of Coldwater has been added to the Niles district. The cutting down of the number of districts will require the finding of first class charges for the two presiding elders. The change was brought about by the bishop and was something of a surprise to the conference.

Rev. W. W. Divine of Buchanan is on trial before the presiding elders. Mr. Divine has been charged with trouble in his domestic relations.

Rev. J. W. H. Carlisle, D. D., of the Niles district gave his report: Church reports show an increase over previous years; some earnest revivals have been held; the Epworth league was alive and held a productive convention; 39 chapters of the league with 1,600 members, and 400 members of the junior league; war sorry the class meeting was being discarded by some churches; valuable improvements made by several churches, and old debts cleared up. This year closed his term as elder.

A GREAT SCHEME.

William Crosby, the Shell Gatherer, Invents It.

William Crosby, who conceived the plan of gathering clam shells from the St. Joseph river and shipping them to pearl button manufacturers in Chicago, has devised a way to utilize what he calls the "dead" shells, shells that have no clams in them and are of no value to the button manufacturers.

There are a great many more "dead" shells than live ones and Mr. Crosby can make his industry much more profitable with means of untenant shells. As proposed he will grind them up for fertilizing purposes. He has arranged for the machinery and will operate the mill with steam power. He will not begin the operation of this feature of his industry until next season.

DON'T NEED ADVICE.

Eau Claire Can Manage Its Own Affairs.

EAU CLAIRE, Sept. 18.—It is noticed that the move to start a newspaper in Eau Claire has started a certain newspaper friend of another town into giving advice. The parties interested in the enterprise are not needing any advice from that source nor will it have any effect on the good people of the village.

The people here want a newspaper and they are willing to give financial aid to secure one. Any man who would attempt to start a paper without assistance would be a fit subject for the Kalamazoo or some idiot asylum. Of course a paper here may interfere with the circulation of the other papers who oppose the project but it is a go all the same.

Newly Appointed Consul to Quebec Recommends Paine's Celery Compound.

General William W. Henry, whom the President has appointed to be Consul to Quebec, has been grand master of a grand lodge of Masons, is a member of the I. O. O. F. and G. A. R., having been the second to be elected department commander in his state of Vermont.

His war record was brilliant. Enlisting as a private, he was engaged in the first battle of Bull Run. He was promoted for bravery to first lieutenant, soon rose to be major, was promoted to a lieutenant colonelcy; then became colonel, and in 1865 was breveted brigadier general for meritorious service during the war. He was wounded at the battles of Cold Harbor, Monocacy, and four times at the battle of Cedar Creek. He has been state senator from two different districts, was U. S. marshal for seven years, and mayor of Burlington for two terms.

Coming from such a man, such an endorsement as follows must be appreciated by anyone:

Quebec, Sept. 7, 1897.
To the Proprietors of Paine's Celery Compound:
It gives me great pleasure to indorse

Paine's celery compound, both on account of the results obtained from personal use of the remedy and knowledge of the remarkable cures it has performed. I believe it has no equal in curing diseases of the nervous system and building up those who are weak and out of health. It has cured several friends of mine of rheumatism in its worst form, and I have no hesitancy in recommending it to all afflicted with that disease. Very truly yours, William W. Henry.

Desperate diseases, such as rheumatism, blood impurity, neuralgia or nervous debility, that bring down the strength of the whole body can not be got rid of as one does a scratch or a sprain, by letting them cure themselves. Heart weakness, kidney disease, chronic headaches and enlarged liver and spleen are not self-terminating disorders. Like all the desperate diseases, they demand a thoughtful, scientific remedy.

There never has been a remedy so thoroughly grounded in a knowledge of what the sick body needs in these diseases as Paine's celery compound.

Paine's celery compound is the remarkable result of profound investigation and close medical study by that eminent professor of the Dartmouth and Vermont medical schools, Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D. LL. D.

It is the greatest nerve invigorator, blood purifier and regulator for the important organs of the body that has ever come to light.

The languor, the nervousness and the pain in the region of the heart or the kidneys are cured by Paine's celery compound because the origin of these disorders is easily traced to an impoverished condition of the nerves and a poor state of the blood.

This great invigorator does nothing at haphazard. Its aim is to feed the exhausted nervous tissues as soundly and rapidly as is consistent with healthy digestion and assimilation, and step by step with this building-up process all over the body goes that other fully as vital work of driving out every trace of vicious humor and poisonous matter from the blood.

In every case—and there are thousands of such cases throughout the country—where Paine's celery compound has cured rheumatism, nervous prostration, neuralgia or that very common "run-down condition"—in every case recovery has been by this same building-up process, that omits no step in making the cure lasting and for a lifetime.

THE EVENING NEWS sold 1,000 copies of its extra edition this morning, giving particulars of the failure of the First National bank. THERE is some trouble among the members of the Sophomore class of the high school. There are two class organizations and each maintains that it is official. An organization with Pearl Stark as president, Harry Plummer vice president, Lena Gillett secretary, and Maud Durkee treasurer, was formed last winter. The officers of this organization, it is declared by part of the class, is illegal for the reason that many members of the class who voted for them had not signed the constitution and therefore were not entitled to a vote. Friday night the class met and a set of officers was chosen as follows: President, Laura O'Brien; vice president, Harry Plummer; secretary, Mable Jeffries; treasurer, Max Handall. Both organizations are contesting for supremacy.

INTEREST NOT ABATING.

Faith at the Soo in the Superior Gold Fields.

The Sault Ste. Marie Democrat published Thursday of this week says:

A number of prospectors came down yesterday on the steamer Telegram, and there would have been more had those at the Michipicoten gold fields known that the boat was bound down. Those who arrive here have nothing new to say, but are disposed to believe that the country is rich in the precious metals and that development will prove that the reports sent out from there are in no ways exaggerated. Among the passengers up Monday were J. J. Mackie, one of the owners of the Mackie-Dickinson claim, and J. L. Caverhill, of North Bay, Ont., who is reported will purchase Mr. Dickinson's interest in the claim, taking the money along, $10,000, with which to pay for it. The Telegram left yesterday afternoon with a party of 35, all bound for the gold fields, so that it will be seen that the interest has not abated, but is, rather, on the increase.

Advices received here from a prospector says that one party has staked out a placer claim on which gold giving 40 cents to the pan has been found.

FOUR HOURS A DAY

Water Sprinkling Period Extended to Test Wells.

At a meeting of the board of public works held in the office of Attorney V. M. Gore Thursday night it was decided to grant four hours for sprinkling purposes with a view to making a test of the wells from which the city gets its water supply. This action was taken upon the recommendation of the committee which had in charge the matter of providing a plan for convincing the complaining citizens of the inadequacy of the water supply. The committee included J. J. Miller, W. P. Robbins and V. M. Gore.

The four-hour per day service goes into effect tomorrow and continuing for a week all takers of the city water for lawn uses are permitted to sprinkle from 5 to 7 o'clock in the morning and 3 to 5 o'clock in the evening. No restrictions in regard to the amount of water used within the sprinkling hours is made. Every taker is expected to use all he needs.

Engineer Rounds will remain in charge of the pumps at the water works station a week longer and then the place will be taken by an expert sent out by the builders of the pumps, the Hughes Manufacturing company, of Cleveland, Ohio. With the expert at the helm the four-hour service will be continued and it will then be ascertained whether the scarcity of water is due to the engineer or the wells.

Engineer Rounds is so confident that the operation of the plant is not responsible for the existing condition that he contemplates with pleasure the retention of an expert.

HAD A MINUTE TO MAKE A SWITCH.

But Another Train Came Along First and Five Men Are Dead.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Sept. 18.—Five killed, three injured and one narrow escape is the result of a head-end collision which occurred on the Wisconsin Central railway between two freights at Howard, Wis., a small place three miles north of here, at an early hour yesterday. The dead are: Rochard Warren, engineer, Chippewa Falls; Ed J. Smith, engineer, Chippewa Falls; John Smiley, fireman, Oxfordville, Wis.; Lester Ryan, stock man, Faribault, Minn.; George Schaeffer, stockman, Faribault, Minn. The other fireman, William Thompson, escaped. The injured are: C. H. Miller, brakeman, Chippewa Falls; William Dixon (colored), horseman; W. F. Miller, horseman.

The freights were No. 21 west-bound, loaded with general merchandise, and No. 24 east-bound, loaded chiefly with flour from Minneapolis. The west-bound freight, No. 21, was delayed somewhat and passed Irvine considerably behind time. It is supposed that the engineer, being behind, forgot that he was to pass No. 24 near that point and was consequently running through at the usual speed. The trainmen were buried beneath their engines and were taken out dead, death probably having been instantaneous. Charles Horn, conductor of No. 21, claims that he still had one minute to make the switch before the scheduled time of No. 24.

THE ARABIAN TRAVELER HAVE THE WITH THE ARABIAN TRAVELER IN Turkey, especially with books and maps. In the old days one's baggage would be dropped down on the landing place at Constantinople, and a turbaned old Turk, tobibook in hand, would go through a pantomime of examining one's effects, which would be abruptly brought to an end by the application of an appropriate coin to the palm of his hand. But the political troubles that began some years ago in the Ottoman empire caused the government to institute a more stringent system, and there is now at Constantinople a custom house more after the American style, where a number of effendis, in fesse and Stambouli coats of the regular official cut, pry into one's luggage with particular care in search of papers and books and maps of a revolutionary tendency or in which words forbidden to be printed in Turkey may be found.

During the height of the Armenian agitation especially close search was always made for anything with the word "Armenia" in it, and whatever it was found in was summarily confiscated. On the occasion of my last visit to Constantinople I happened to have a map of Asia Minor among my papers, the discovery of which greatly agitated the examining effendi, who spoke in a language he thought was French. "Ah, Anese Meenoor!" he exclaimed as he spread it out, continuing in his Turkish-French, "Show me Enserum." Having pointed out to him the spot where that city was to be found, he began running his finger over the map until he struck upon the letter A. This seemed almost to take his breath away, but when a short distance to the right of it he found the letter R he fairly gasped. The detection of the letter M following it was like an electric shock, and a bomb explosion could not have startled him more than the discovery of the letter E. By the time he had deciphered the remaining letters, NIA, I saw that the game was up, and as he folded up my precious map and in stern and measured syllables announced to me that it was "de-fon-dew, con-as-kay," I knew that it was lost to me forever. A Review with an article alluding to the disturbed condition of affairs in the Turkish empire followed the map, along with some foreign newspapers.—Harper's Round Table.

BANK CLOSED

First National Bank Will Not Open Its Doors for Business This Morning.

National Bank Examiner Caldwell Speaks of the Causes to "The News."

About $90,000 on Deposit and Probable That It Will Be Fully Paid.

An Effort Will Be Made to Reorganize the Bank and Resume Business.

Last night George B. Caldwell, of Detroit, National bank examiner, locked the doors of the First National bank of this city. He has charge of the assets of the bank and that institution will not open for business today.

The examiner was not at liberty to disclose the amount of the bank's assets but he said the amount due the depositors was $90,000. He would not say, however, whether the depositors would be paid in full or not, but it is generally believed that no depositor will lose a cent by the failure.

The bank has met with some bad luck in the past few years, owing to the depreciation in values. It carried heavy loans on the Bues machine works and the Allmendinger hotel, while the immediate cause of closing was a loss of $20,000 on a loan at Gas City, Ind.

The bank examiner arrived here Wednesday, and Friday morning he sent Vice President Morton of the bank and the attorney of the institution, Victor M. Gore, to Gas City to secure the loan. Upon advice from Mr. Morton last night that the loan was practically worthless the bank examiner took charge of the bank in the interests of the depositors.

The troubles of the bank began early last summer, about the time James Baley relinquished his position as cashier. Rumors were put in circulation that the bank was in bad shape and there has been a continual drain on the institution ever since. For two months the bank has refused to make any loans and in that time the deposits have shrunk nearly $70,000.

The banking house was the oldest in the city and prior to its incorporation as a national bank in 1890 was known as the bank of Baley Bros. The capital of the bank was $50,000, with a surplus of $40,000. The directors at the present time are: S. A. Bailey, J. S. Morton, Milton Hinkley and C. H. Porter.

Many of the largest business firms in the city did their banking with the First National and the immediate effect of the failure is largely problematic. It is thought by those competent to judge that no business interests will suffer on account of the failure.

The examiner will make an effort to reorganize the bank and if that is impossible a receiver will be appointed. He will give out the assets and liabilities and receive instructions from the court.

confidence in the bank and the directors as shown by the fact that in spite of the ugly rumors the bank suffered no drain that approached anything like a "run."

A reporter of THE NEWS called City Treasurer Brown out of bed at midnight and learned that none of the city's funds were in the broken bank. Mr. Brown however had his personal account on deposit there.

Deposits were received yesterday until the closing hour arrived as it was not expected that the bank would close until the dispatch from Gas City was received.

Among the depositors yesterday was the West Michigan railroad company but the amount was only something like $100. The company has deposited every other day in either bank.

Says Efforts to Reorganize the Bank Will be Made.

National Bank Examiner George B. Caldwell emerged from the door of the defunct institution at 10 o'clock last night and walked directly to the Hotel Benton where he has been stopping since his arrival in the city Wednesday. Twenty minutes later he was interviewed in his room by an EVENING NEWS representative. Asked concerning the rumor that the bank would close its doors this morning Mr. Caldwell said:

Mr. Caldwell said the failure was due to bad loans and charged much of the responsibility for the loans to James Baley, the ex-cashier. As a result of the transactions it was necessary to charge off the surplus fund the sum of $35,000 of bad loans, which the examiner charged Mr. Baley with making. The withdrawal of Mr. Baley from the bank some time ago naturally caused uneasiness among the depositors and since that time the bank's deposits have gradually been shrinking and so far as can be determined are now about $90,000.

"The immediate cause of the bank being closed by me," he said, "lies in the result of an investigation started yesterday by which I found that a $20,000 debt of the Thompson Glass company, of Gas City, Ind., was worthless. I sent Attorney Gore and Vice President Morton to Gas City this morning to conduct an investigation and to night they advised me by wire that they were unable to get the debt secured and that it was of no value as an asset."

"The bank is also burdened with a large amount of real estate taken to be sold previously to the failure, which is now a heavy burden."

verted at this time into cash without some loss.

"The bank was short in its reserve, the capital seriously impaired and the shareholders of the bank, so far as they could be consulted, were unable to furnish additional help in the way of funds to liquidate the bank and failure was inevitable."

"I have taken charge of the books and assets and will conduct the affairs in the interest of the depositors. I shall make a thorough investigation and report the same to the comptroller of the currency, and perhaps later on some safe and feasible plan can be found whereby the bank can be reorganized and reopened."

"There is no doubt but what this is a good location and if a bank is properly managed it would have a large deposit and prove profitable to the stockholders. I shall remain in charge of the bank for several days and if nothing can be done toward reorganization or liquidation a receiver will have to be appointed."

WILL BE PAID IN FULL.

The Opinion of Ex-Cashier James Baley.

James Baley, ex-cashier of the bank, was seen at his residence late last night by THE NEWS. He had received an intimation that the bank examiner was in the city but he scarcely expected the bank to be closed.

"I do not care to make any statement tonight," said Mr. Baley, "but you can say that in my opinion every depositor will be paid in full."

TURKISH CUSTOM HOUSE.

Many amusing stories are told of the trouble American travelers have had with the custom house authorities in Turkey, especially with books and maps. In the old days one's baggage would be dumped down on the landing place at Constantinople, and a turbaned old Turk, tchibouk in hand, would go through a pantomime of examining one's effects, which would be abruptly brought to an end by the application of an appropriate coin to the palm of his hand. But the political troubles that began some years ago in the Ottoman empire caused the government to institute a more stringent system, and there is now at Constantinople a custom house more after the American style, where a number of effendis, in fezes and Stambouli coats of the regular official cut, pry into one's luggage with particular care in search of papers and books and maps of a revolutionary tendency or in which words forbidden to be printed in Turkey may be found.

During the height of the Armenian agitation especially close search was always made for anything with the word "Armenia" in it, and whatever it was found in was summarily confiscated. On the occasion of my last visit to Constantinople I happened to have a map of Asia Minor among my papers, the discovery of which greatly agitated the examining effendi, who spoke in a language he thought was French. "Ah, Azeez Meenoor!" he exclaimed as he spread it out, continuing in his Turkish-French, "Show me Erzerum." Having pointed out to him the spot where that city was to be found, he began running his finger over the map until he struck upon the letter A. This seemed almost to take his breath away, but when a short distance to the right of it he found the letter R he fairly gasped. The detection of the letter M following it was like an electric shock, and a bomb explosion could not have startled him more than the discovery of the letter E. By the time he had deciphered the remaining letters, NIA, I saw that the game was up, and as he folded up my precious map and in stern and measured syllables announced to me that it was "de-fon-dew, con-fis-kay," I knew that it was lost to me forever. A Review with an article alluding to the disturbed condition of affairs in the Turkish empire followed the map, along with some foreign newspapers.—Harper's Round Table.

Contact With It Brings One a Peculiar Kind of Fear.

We wish the Psychological society would one day attempt an analysis of what,
for want of a better word, we must call the dread of the supernatural. Both those who believe and those who disbelieve in the notion that the veil between this world and the other is capable of being lifted agree in one thing. They all recognize the fact that most people fear, or something akin to fear, what they believe to be the occurrence of supernatural phenomena. There is here, therefore, a piece of ground which may be explored without any begging of the question as to whether the fear is caused by real ghosts or by trickery, by rats and water pipes or by genuine glimpses of the people of another world. One would like to know whether the fear felt is akin to that experienced when a man is frightened by a runaway horse or a fire or any other imminent risk of life, or whether it is something different in kind.

Speaking broadly and without any minute consideration of the facts, one would say that ghost fright did differ in kind from the fright which comes from active danger. Most people have, we imagine, at some time or other in their lives experienced that eerie, uncanny, creepy feeling which is associated with the possibility of contact with the supernatural. Yet few would declare that it was in any sense connected with the dread of loss of life or limb.
The man or woman who wakes up in the middle of the night and hears strange noises—thumps, raps, clangs and creakings—or sees lights or feels the touch of unseen hands is probably very frightened, but the sense of bodily fear is not present. There is no dread of being killed. People in the agony of terror caused by dangerous accidents constantly call out that they are going to be killed, but we doubt if that is ever the case in the fright caused by haunted houses. Possibly this difference may be said to be due to the fact that the dread of the supernatural is not nearly so acute as that caused by the imminent risk of death. People, it may be argued, only imagine themselves to be frightened of ghosts, as women pretend to be frightened of mice. In neither case is the fright quite genuine.
It is only want of self control and could be mastered in an instant if the will power were in proper order.

Unfortunately for those who argue thus there is plenty of evidence to show that occasionally the dread of the supernatural produces very serious results. On the whole, we should say that more people have been frightened out of their wits by what they believed to be supernatural phenomena than by accidents involving great risk of life. It is not often that one hears of insanity caused even by the prolonged agony of shipwreck. The fear caused by what is supposed to be a supernatural agency seems, then, to have in it some element not found in ordinary fear. If the haunting phenomena cause fear, they seem to give a shock of special keenness.—London Spectator.

Best Time to Sleep.

In view of the many changes which have been rung on the early to bed, early to rise idea, the following opinion from an eminent medical authority ought to be of interest. He takes up the old statement that an hour before midnight is worth two hours after and gives his opinion as follows: "I had an opportunity to make some study of this subject in my naval service during the late war. On shipboard, as is undoubtedly known to most of you, the ship's company—officers and men alike—stand four hour watches day and night, and to get the required amount of rest are obliged to get their sleep irregularly.
To so arrange it that the same man shall not be obliged to take early or late watches continually, the 'dog watch' of two hours is interpolated, thus adding to the irregularity. In watching the results for over two years I could never discover that the watch, officers and men, were not as fully refreshed by their sleep as were the medical and pay officers, who stand no watch and have hours as regular as those of any householder." It seems to make but little difference to those who have given careful attention to this subject whether people sleep at one time or another, so that they get a sufficient amount of sleep.—New York Ledger.

A Brave Man.

Nicolas, Chevalier d'Assas, a French captain in the Auvergne regiment, born at Vigan in the Languedoc, while making a reconnaissance during the night of Oct. 15, 1760, at Klosterkamp in Westphalia, met a column of the enemy which was advancing in silence to surprise the French army. He was ordered to keep silent or else they would kill him. D'Assas at once cried out, "A moi Auvergne—the enemy is here!" He was killed on the spot.—Bonillet's Dictionary of History.

In Austria the man who loses both his hands in an accident can claim the whole of his life insurance money, or the ground that he has lost the means of supporting himself and his family.

Court No. 1, meets at Odd Fellows' hall

MABEL GREEN, Secretary.

There are many who are always in advance, and this man is recognized under the title of the brief. A friend who has a large practice showed me his notebook yesterday. The largest item was 38 guineas, which is less than $500. The average was about $50. Fees are regulated by the benchers
of the inn according to the service performed, and no contingent fees are allowed. A barrister may accept a case for nothing or return the fee in cases of
charity, but he cannot without violating his oath, directly or indirectly, accept any greater compensation for a
legal service than is allowed in the regular schedule fixed by the benchers
of his inn. If he does so, he is debarred from practice.

for a lawyer to undertake a suit for the recovery of damages or a claim of any kind with a contract that he shall receive a certain percentage of the amount of money recovered. In England such an act would be considered disreputable, and any barrister found guilty would be expelled from his inn. The
time and labor required, and not by the
may receive a fee of $250 in a case involving only $500, and he may receive
a fee of $25 in a case involving $1,000.

All legal business originates with so-licitors. They bring to the barrister's
office a case all prepared after certain
forms and written in manuscript. The British courts do not permit typewrit-
ing. The solicitor requests the barrister
to undertake the case, and the fee is
barrister does not care to undertake the
labor for the amount of money allowed
or for any other reason, he advises the
the responsibility, the solicitor leaves
the amount of the fee in coin with the
in advance. This is the almost invariable custom. The only exceptions are in cases of close friendship between the
is a large amount of litigation in
which both are involved. Then it is
his bill at the end of the month or the
end of the quarter, but the fee in each case must nevertheless be written upon
the court.

It is customary, also, for the solicitor
to leave a fee for the barrister's clerk
at the same time, which must be a certain percentage of that paid to the barrister. When you dine at a hotel or a restaurant in England, it is customary
to tip the waiter an amount equal to 5 per cent of your bill for the same reason. The waiter receives no compensation from his employer, nor does the barrister's clerk. His pay comes entirely from the clients, and if his principal has no clients he gets no pay. On the other hand, if his principal has a very large and profitable practice his
handsome villa down in the suburbs, is driven to and from his office in a brough-
am and hires a box at the opera for the

No More of It For Him.

He entered the shop of a fashionable
bootmaker, a look of determination on his face. It was such a look as one sees
solved to carry out, at all hazards, a decision which will change the whole
course of his life.

"H'm!" he began as the assistant
stepped forward and politely questioned
him as to his requirements in feet
my wife, Mrs. Brown."

man briskly. "Same style and size as
last week?"

"Same style. Size, five—wide five,"
replied Brown decidedly.

"But—er—excuse me. Mrs. Brown
only takes—that is, she usually has 3 1/2," exclaimed the assistant, who knew the lady well.

"Are you married, young man?"
queried Brown sternly, the look of determination deepening on his careworn
features.

"Er—not yet, sir," answered the
shopman, blushing.

"I thought not," returned Brown.

"I am! I am not going to suffer half
an hour's purgatory every morning,
watching a woman trying to squeeze a
stood it long enough, and I'm going to take her a pair that will fit."—Pearson's Weekly.

Making Things Clear.

An old Peabody worthy and an English lady were, one day recently occupants of a railway carriage in an Edinburgh bound train. The train had been waiting long at a certain station, and
gay teaglesome lot here."

"I beg your pardon," said the lady.

"I'm sayin' they're an awfu' daidlin
squad here," said the old fellow.

rejoined.

"I'm remarkin' they're a vera dreich
lot here the night," the old gentleman
further ventured.

"Really, I must again beg your pardon," said the lady, with marked embarassment, "but I do not comprehend
you."

"I was just trying to say the train was late," he finally blurted.

"Indeed, sir, it is very late," agreed
the lady.

A SMALL MAN'S REVENGE.

He Buffs the Dignity of Two Women in
a Cable Car.

The small sized, unobtrusive man
gets revenge now and then, as was exemplified yesterday in a Broadway
one vacant seat. Other passengers who
a semihypnotic condition and did not
observe the vacant place. Two women, strangers to each other, richly clad and
wearing diamond earrings, were the
guardians of the vacant space, which
the small man to a comfortable seat.
Either of the women, by moving a little, could have made a larger space,
statues while the diminutive man
crowded into the place. He exhibited
all the signs of being uncomfortable,
but these implacable cosmopolitans
woman, weighing about 300 pounds,
boarded the car. With the air of a Chesterfield the small man lifted his
hat and said:

"Pray, take my seat."

"Thank you, sir," she replied as she started to sit down. Consternation was depicted upon the faces of the two richly clad women as they tried to edge
too late, for the heavy woman crushed
into the seat and came in contact with
dresses down. It was a scramble to give
the heavy woman enough room, and all dignity was lost. The passengers smiled,
and none more so than the small man,
Commercial.

Marie Antoinette's Books.

The unhappy Queen Marie Antoinette
possessed an important library of 4,713
volumes, consisting of plays and ro-
works of Pascal, Bossuet, Fenelon, Bourdieu, Massillon, Boileau, Cousseau, Corneille, Moliere, Voltaire and many others. She loved music passionately and had a large collection of operas in 89 numbers. The bindings were by Blaisot and were uniform in red morocco, with the arms of France
and Austria stamped upon them. The execution of the work was poor, and
the decadence in the art of binding evident. The glories of the art of Padeloup
the revolution effectually killed whatever knowledge remained of the ancient
skill of the bookbinders. Half a century later saw its revival in France, and the art has since flourished both there and on English soil.—Gentleman's Magazine.

gions that conversation can be carried on easily by persons two miles apart. It has also been asserted on good authority that at Gibraltar the human voice
has been distinctly heard at a distance
of ten miles.

Cleverness is serviceable for everything, sufficient for nothing.—Amiel.

Plane Lessons.

New and old pupils of Mrs. F. B.
Cary are again at work and after the
summer vacation are showing renewed
vigor and interest. Former pupils
who have not already begun can have their old lessons here. New pupils will find it a most interesting and instructive study.

Chamberlain's Part in a General Denial of the Implications of the Sherman Letter to Hay, Declares That England Has Gone Beyond the Paris Award Requirements as to Seal Protection, and Indulges in a Few Imputations of His Own.

London, Sept. 18.—The Times this morning publishes the gist of the correspondence between Secretary Sherman and Lord Salisbury in the Behring sea controversy. The book covers a period beginning with 1896 and ending with July 30 of the present year. Altogether there are 107 dispatches, which show that the United States has pressed for revision since January, 1896. The Times remarks: "Though Mr. Sherman so far forgot himself as to sign the famous dispatch we cannot suppose that he actually wrote it." Only the concluding paragraph of the dispatch is republished, all the terms deemed discourteous being omitted. The Times then adds: "Lord Salisbury wisely refrained from answering the dispatch in detail. He confined himself to imparting a short note to Ambassador Hay, dated July 28, 1897, stating that the government was willing to agree to a meeting of the experts in October, preferably in Washington, and that other portions of Mr. Sherman's dispatch, in so far as they required any reply from her majesty's government, had been answered by anticipation in dispatches he [Lord Salisbury] had addressed to Sir Julian Pauncefote on April 22 and May 7, which had been communicated to the government of the United States on July 28."

Reply to Sherman's Famous Letter.
In a long letter from the colonial office to the foreign office, signed Edward Wingfield, occupying four columns of small print, The Times deals with Sherman's dispatch in detail. In this document, which is prepared by Chamberlain, the latter points out that Sherman's contention that the extermination of fur bearing seals has been practically accomplished cannot have come to pass, as in that case there would be nothing at all to form the subject matter of negotiation. The document proceeds: "Lord Salisbury pointed out in May that the English interests had for some years exceeded the American in the fur sealing industry. It cannot, therefore, be for the advantage of the British government or those whom it represents that the seals should be exterminated. The dispatch explains that the object of the conference is to arrive, if possible, at correct conclusions respecting the numbers, conditions and habits of the seals fre-quencing the Pribyloff Island at the present time as compared with several seasons previous to and subsequent to the Paris award. But it must be clearly understood that this limited inquiry does not involve an assent to Mr. Sherman's strange misconceptions."

Declaration That Johnny Bull Has Gone Further Than Treaty Requirements.

Chamberlain contends that Great Britain has taken adequate measures —much more complete in some directions than those adopted by the United States—for securing the enforcement of the Paris regulations, and says it was never intended by the tribunal of arbitration that United States officers should be given the power of supervising and controlling the action of British naval and customs officers with regard to the inspection of skins. He contends that the British government has even exceeded the limits of its strict obligations as far as was possible without injury to the interests of those it was bound to protect. The government, he continues, has not omitted to enact legislation necessary to secure the conviction of the guilty; but it has refused to pass legislation certain to embarrass and injure the innocent. It has refused to seek legislation authorizing the inspection of skins because it does not believe such inspection would serve any useful purpose.

The British government, he asserts, has performed with the utmost rigor all the requirements of the award; but it has had to make "continued unavailing protests against the attempts of the United States to hamper and embarrass the operations of British subjects pursuing their lawful vocation. But, the fact that in spite of those embarrassments British sealers have been able to prosecute the industry successfully has led to continual effort by the United States to obtain such further regulations as would effectively prevent that result, without regard to the objects of the award."

The colonial office dispatch concludes as follows: "The government has never argued that the regulations are perfect; but it has maintained that before they can be scientifically revised accurate information as to the increase or decrease of the herd must be made available. Such information is only obtainable by accurate observations extending over a period sufficient to enable accidental circumstances to be eliminated.
As soon as that is at hand the govern-

One Death Also Reported, Making Two in All—Location of the Cases Now Covers
All Sections of the City, But the Health Officers Keep Up Their Hope That They Can Combat the Epidemic—Fifteen New Cases at Edwards, Mississippi.

New Orleans, Sept. 18.—The fever situation in New Orleans yesterday assumed a somewhat more serious aspect than at any time since Sunday, when six of the St. Claude cases were declared to be yellow fever. At 8 o'clock last evening the board of health officially announced the appearance of eight new cases, and of these one death, that of Zena Brauner. At the office of the board of health the reports were considered somewhat surprising and disappointing. The situation had so materially improved Thursday night that it was felt that pretty much the worst had come, and that conditions would improve. Thursday, however, was one of the hottest days of the month, and as yellow fever thrives in that character of weather there seems to have been a rapid development of germs. The physicians still feel that there is much that is satisfactory in the situation.

One Fact That Is Significant.

It is true that the new cases represent the extreme upper, the extreme lower and central portions of the city, but there has been no serious spread from the original foci, and the opinion is still expressed that the disease may be controlled and that there is no imminent danger of an epidemic. Secretary Patton, of the board, said last evening:
"The appearance of eight cases today is not necessarily alarming. I said three evenings ago that the prospects seemed to point to the development here of at least fifty cases as a result of constant intercourse we have been having with the infected towns on the gulf coast and the fact that a promiscuous throng of some 700 or 800 people had hastened into the city on the Monday evening following the declaration of the Ocean Springs sickness to be yellow fever."

Takes a Hopeful View.

"We have had now twenty-eight cases and two deaths. The majority of the remaining cases are improving. It is still quite likely that there will appear numerous cases in New Orleans, but the situation is not distressing and the chances of a disastrous epidemic are remote."

Zena Brauner, of Webster and Second streets, Carrollton, is the death reported. The Brauner case was first brought to the attention of the board early in the week. Close attention had been given it, but while the symptoms justified suspicion they were not sufficiently aggravated to warrant an absolute declaration that the case was yellow fever.

One Death at Mobile, Nineteen Cases at Biloxi—Increasing at Edwards.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 18.—Yesterday's report shows no increase in the ratio of cases and but one additional death, that of J. L. Taylor, a bricklayer, who came here from West Virginia four weeks ago.
The quarantine against Mobile has increased in severity. Scranton had no new cases of yellow fever there yesterday. The cases previously reported are reported improving.

New Orleans, Sept. 18.—The report of the board of health at Biloxi yesterday says that there are nineteen cases of actual yellow fever under treatment with diagnosis reserved as to twelve cases.
There were seven new cases reported in the twenty-four hours ending Thursday.

Ocean Springs, Miss., Sept. 18.—The situation here is not encouraging. Several of the dengue patients have taken a turn for the worse, although none of them are considered as critically ill.
There were seven new cases of the prevailing fever reported yesterday. Total number now sick twenty-five. At Augusta, Miss., Rev. T. S. Powell, of Brandon, died of yellow fever.

Vicksburg, Miss., Sept. 18.—Yesterday's report from Edwards gave fifteen new cases of yellow fever.

Cairo, Ill., Sept. 18.—Two men were taken suddenly ill yesterday at Point Pleasant and brought to the city and placed in the Marine hospital. The physicians have not declared them to be suffering from yellow fever, but they are being treated as suspects.

BANK CLOSED

First National Bank Will Not Open Its Doors for Business This Morning.

Immediate Cause of the Failure a Loss of $20,000 on an Indiana Loan.

About $90,000 on Deposit and Probable That It Will Be Fully Paid.

An Effort Will Be Made to Reorganize the Bank and Resume Business.

Last night George B. Caldwell, of Detroit, National bank examiner, locked the doors of the First National bank of this city. He has charge of the assets of the bank and that institution will not open for business today.

The examiner was not at liberty to disclose the amount of the bank's assets but he said the amount due the depositors was $90,000. He would not say, however, whether the depositors would be paid in full or not, but it is generally believed that no depositor will lose a cent by the failure.

The bank has met with some bad luck in the past few years, owing to the depreciation in values. It carried heavy loans on the Buss machine works and the Allmendinger hotel, while the immediate cause of closing was a loss of $20,000 on a loan at Gas City, Ind.

The bank examiner arrived here Wednesday, and Friday morning he sent Vice President Morton of the bank and the attorney of the institution, Victor M. Gore, to Gas City to secure the loan. Upon advice from Mr. Morton last night that the loan was practically worthless the bank examiner took charge of the bank in the interests of the depositors.

The troubles of the bank began early last summer, about the time James Baley relinquished his position as cashier. Rumors were put in circulation that the bank was in bad shape and there has been a continual drain on the institution ever since. For two months the bank has refused to make any loans and in that time the deposits have shrunk nearly $70,000.

The banking house was the oldest in the city and prior to its incorporation as a national bank in 1894 was known as the bank of Baley Bros. The capital of the bank was $50,000, with a surplus of $40,000. The directors at the present time are: S. A. Bailey, J. S. Morton, Milton Hinkley and C. H. Porter.

Many of the largest business firms in the city did their banking with the First National and the immediate effect of the failure is largely problematic. It is thought by those competent to judge that no business interests will suffer on account of the failure.

The examiner will make an effort to reorganize the bank and if that is impossible a receiver will be appointed. He refused to give out the assets and liabilities until receiving instructions from the department.

Deposits were received yesterday until the closing hour arrived as it was not expected that the bank would close until the dispatch from Gas City was received.

Among the depositors yesterday was the West Michigan railroad company but the amount was only something like $100. The company has deposited every other day in either bank.

THE EXAMINER TALKS.

Says Efforts to Reorganize the Bank Will Be Made.

National Bank Examiner George B. Caldwell emerged from the door of the defunct institution at 10 o'clock last night and walked directly to the Hotel Benton where he has been stopping since his arrival in the city Wednesday. Twenty minutes later he was interviewed in his room by an EVENING NEWS representative. Asked concerning the rumor that the bank would close its doors this morning Mr. Caldwell said:

Mr. Caldwell said the failure was due to bad loans and charged much of the responsibility for the loans to James Baley, the ex-cashier. As a result of the transactions it was necessary to charge off the surplus fund the sum of $35,000 of bad loans, which the examiner charged Mr. Baley with making. The withdrawal of Mr. Baley from the bank some time ago naturally caused uneasiness among the depositors and since that time the bank's deposits have gradually been shrinking and so far as can be determined are now about $90,000.

"The immediate cause of the bank being closed by me," he said, "lies in the result of an investigation started yesterday by which I found that a $20,000 debt of the Thompson Glass company, of Gas City, Ind., was worthless. I sent Attorney Gore and Vice President Morton to Gas City this morning to conduct an investigation and tonight they advised me by wire that they were unable to get the debt secured and that it was of no value as an asset."

"The bank is also burdened with a large amount of real estate taken to secure debts previously contracted which, while it may be worth the amount the bank has invested, is not available for paying depositors and cannot be converted at this time into cash without some loss."

"The bank was short in its reserve, the capital seriously impaired and the shareholders of the bank, so far as they could be consulted, were unable to furnish additional help in the way of funds to liquidate the bank and failure was inevitable."

"I have taken charge of the books and assets and will conduct the affairs in the interest of the depositors. I shall make a thorough investigation and report the same to the comptroller of the currency and perhaps later on some sale and transfer of assets."

good location and if a bank is properly managed it would have a large deposit and prove profitable to the stockholders. I shall remain in charge of the bank for several days and if nothing can be done toward reorganization or liquidation a receiver will have to be appointed."

WILL BE PAID IN FULL.

The Opinion of Ex-Cashier James Baley.

James Baley, ex-cashier of the bank, was seen at his residence late last night by THE NEWS. He had received an intimation that the bank examiner was in the city but he scarcely expected the bank to be closed.

"I do not care to make any statement tonight," said Mr. Baley, "but you can say that in my opinion every depositor will be paid in full."

Michigan Conference Will Hereafter Have But Seven Districts.

KALAMAZOO, Sept. 18.—The Michigan Methodist conference has reduced its number of presiding elder districts from nine to seven. The city of Coldwater has been added to the Niles district. The cutting down of the number of districts will require the finding of first class charges for the two presiding elders. The change was brought about by the bishop and was something of a surprise to the conference.

Rev. W. W. Divine of Buchanan is on trial before the presiding elders. Mr. Divine has been charged with trouble in his domestic relations.

Rev. J. W. H. Carlisle, D. D., of the Niles district gave his report: Church reports show an increase over previous years; some earnest revivals have been held; the Epworth league was alive and held a productive convention; 39 chapters of the league with 1,600 members, and 400 members of the junior league; war sorry the class meeting was being discarded by some churches; valuable improvements made by several churches, and old debts cleared up. This year closed his term as elder.

A GREAT SCHEME.

William Crosby, who conceived the plan of gathering clam shells from the St. Joseph river and shipping them to pearl button manufacturers in Chicago, has devised a way to utilize what he calls the "dead" shells, shells that have no clams in them and are of no value to the button manufacturers.

There are a great many more "dead" shells than live ones and Mr. Crosby can make his industry much more profitable with means of untenant shells. As proposed he will grind them up for fertilizing purposes. He has arranged for the machinery and will operate the mill with steam power. He will not begin the operation of this feature of his industry until next season.

DON'T NEED ADVICE.

Eau Claire Can Manage Its Own Affairs.

EAU CLAIRE, Sept. 18.—It is noticed that the move to start a newspaper in Eau Claire has started a certain newspaper friend of another town into giving advice. The parties interested in the enterprise are not needing any advice from that source nor will it have any effect on the good people of the village.

The people here want a newspaper and they are willing to give financial aid to secure one. Any man who would attempt to start a paper without assistance would be a fit subject for the Kalamazoo or some idiot asylum. Of course a paper here may interfere with the circulation of the other papers who oppose the project but it is a goal the same.

Newly Appointed Consul to Quebec Recommends Paine's Celery Compound.

General William W. Henry, whom the President has appointed to be Consul to Quebec, has been grand master of a grand lodge of Masons, is a member of the I. O. O. F. and G. A. R., having been the second to be elected department commander in his state of Vermont.

His war record was brilliant. Enlisting as a private, he was engaged in the first battle of Bull Run. He was promoted for bravery to first lieutenant, soon rose to be major, was promoted to a lieutenant colonel; then became colonel, and in 1865 was breveted brigadier general for meritorious service during the war. He was wounded at the battle of Cold Harbor, Monocacy, and four times at the battle of Cedar Creek. He has been state senator from two different districts, was U. S. marshal for seven years, and mayor of Burlington for two terms.

To the Proprietors of Paine's Celery Compound:
It gives me great pleasure to endorse

Paine's celery compound, both on account of the results obtained from personal use of the remedy and knowledge of the remarkable cures it has performed. I believe it has no equal in curing diseases of the nervous system and building up those who are weak and out of health. It has cured several friends of mine of rheumatism in its worst form, and I have no hesitancy in recommending it to all afflicted with that disease. Very truly yours,
William W. Henry.

Desperate diseases, such as rheumatism, blood impurity, neuralgia or nervous debility, that bring down the strength of the whole body can not be got rid of as one does a scratch or a sprain, by letting them cure themselves. Heart weakness, kidney disease, chronic headaches and enlarged liver and spleen are not self-terminating disorders. Like all the desperate diseases, they demand a thoughtful, scientific remedy.

There never has been a remedy so thoroughly grounded in a knowledge of what the sick body needs in these diseases as Paine's celery compound.

Paine's celery compound is the remarkable result of profound investigation and close medical study by that eminent professor of the Dartmouth

and Vermont medical schools, Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D. LL. D.

It is the greatest nerve invigorator, blood purifier and regulator for the important organs of the body that has ever come to light.

The languor, the nervousness and the pain in the region of the heart or the kidneys are cured by Paine's celery compound because the origin of these disorders is easily traced to an impoverished condition of the nerves and a poor state of the blood.

This great invigorator does nothing at haphazard. Its aim is to feed the exhausted nervous tissues as soundly and rapidly as is consistent with healthy digestion and assimilation, and step by step with this building-up process all over the body goes that other fully as vital work of driving out every trace of vicious humor and poisonous matter from the blood.

In every case—and there are thousands of such cases throughout the country—where Paine's celery compound has cured rheumatism, nervous prostration, neuralgia or that very common "run-down condition" in every case recovery has been by this same building-up process, that omits no step in making the cure lasting and for a lifetime.

The Standard Company, which is now building, receiving upwards of $100,000 per day and a margin of over 100% of butter made at nearly double the price paid for dairy butter in the spring.

The "Sunny South" Comedy company went from here to Three Oaks to play at that place, but the audience being so few they decided to return here via foot, when they left for St. Joe and Benton Harbor, their respective homes.

The residence of Christ Horn, about two and one-half miles south of this place was destroyed by fire Wednesday noon. Most all the household goods were saved. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Henry Harmon and Mrs. Ella Turner were quietly married at the bride's home, Wednesday at 6 p. m., Rev. R. E. Spafford officiating. They are erecting a fine residence on Whitaker avenue, and will make this place their home.

Three Oaks

THREE OAKS, Sept. 19.—From the Three Oaks Press: E. K. Warren is in New York and Boston in the interest of his Featherbone business.

Miss Lula Paxson has accepted a position as teacher in the public schools at Manistee.

The arch at the corner of Elm and Ash streets, which has been the pride of Three Oaks citizens since the Berrien County Battalion reunion, was taken down this week.

Three cases of scarlet fever were reported last week but it has been kept in bondage and no other cases have developed. Five pupils were sent home from school last Monday but an investigation was made by Health Officer Wilcox, who found no symptoms of the disease and the children returned to school.

San Claire

EAU CLAIRE, Sept. 18.—J. M. Paul started yesterday for Columbus, Ohio, to join Mrs. Paul who has been visiting friends and relatives in that locality for a week.

Mrs. E. Eschert has returned from her trip to Canada.

The Rev. C. P. Birdsey left last Tuesday for Kalamazoo, to attend conference.

School is progressing nicely with three teachers. If we had a good large room for the third teacher we could justly feel proud of our school this year.

The well that furnishes water for the town pump in front of Paul's has been dug deeper and the plank curbing has been replaced by tile from top to bottom. It has been suggested by one of the citizens that if the water still continues to be offensive that "we serve an injunction" on the pump to stop it from throwing out water that is offensive to the people.

The parties that are soliciting subscriptions for the proposed newspaper are very much gratified over the result so far, as practically every enterprising citizen is manifesting an interest, at least to the extent of subscribing the litigation, proceeding to court against the school board by Mrs. Hoyt, and this evening is the time set for the special school meeting "to take some action in regard to the expenses already incurred or to be hereafter incurred by the district in the injunction proceedings." Surely the district will not be asked to pay the expenses of both sides as seems to be the impression that some have gotten.

NEWS OF THE STATE.

The plum crop in the vicinity of Portland is so large this season that growers are having difficulty to secure enough baskets in which to ship the fruit.

Business men along the line between Marshall and Charlotte propose to build a line of railroad between the two cities. They are trying to interest capitalists in the scheme and secure subscriptions sufficient to build the road.

A man who gives his name as Frank Haynes gave himself up to the authorities at Utica, N. Y., claiming he was wanted at Dowagiac, for stealing a horse and buggy. He said he sold the rig at Durand. It has been recovered and Haynes will be brought back to Michigan for trial.

Some of the produce dealers about Crosswell have an ingenious way of overcoming the nuisance of lack of cars to ship their hay, etc. They secure flat cars and run them into the lumber yard at that place and have them transformed into box cars. They hold them during the shipping season for their own use.

Elkhart Truth: Major Newton, a farmer living just across the Michigan line, was yesterday offered the sum of $400 for four large walnut trees which grew on his place. The offer was made by James Huff, a purchasing agent for an eastern lumber firm and was refused. Mr. Huff says the lumber which he buys is all used to make veneer, and is exported from this country. He found, so he says, considerable walnut in the neighborhood which he visited yesterday; but none of the owners seem disposed to sell, even at the high prices which he offered.

Tired of Philcaters.

Three Oaks Press: Readers of newspapers would be pleased if another man would return from Alaska with a few nuggets. The name of Frank Philcater is getting very monotonous.

Coloma Pleasure Well Earned.

Coloma Courier: Mrs. E. D. Foster and Miss Alberta Van Camp are riding two of the neatest looking bicycles that ever came to town, and they seem to enjoy the sport thoroughly. They have a right to all the fun there is in it, for their own money is represented in the investment.

HOURS A DAY.

Working Period Extended to Test Wells.

A meeting of the board of public works held in the office of Attorney V. J. Thayer Thursday night it was decided to extend four hours for sprinkling purposes with a view to making a test of the wells from which the city gets its water supply. This action was taken on the recommendation of the committee which had in charge the matter of providing a plan for convincing the city of the necessity of the installation of the water supply. The committee included J. J. Miller, W. P. Thayer and V. M. Gore.

The four-hour per day service goes into effect tomorrow and continuing for several days. The city water for sprinkling is permitted to sprinkle from 7 to 10 o'clock in the morning and from 5 to 8 o'clock in the evening. No restriction in regard to the amount of water used within the sprinkling hours. Every taker is expected to use the water for the purpose of the test.

Engineers Rounds will remain in charge of the pumps at the water works until a week longer and then the pumps will be taken by an expert from the builders of the pumps, the H. H. Manufacturing company, of Cleveland, Ohio. With the expert at the pumps the four-hour service will be continued and it will then be ascertained whether the scarcity of water is due to the engineer or the wells.

Engineers Rounds is so confident that the operation of the plant is not responsible for the existing condition that he contemplates with pleasure the recommendation of an expert.

HAD A MINUTE TO MAKE A SWITCH.

But Another Train Came Along First and Five Men Are Dead.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., Sept. 18.—Five killed, three injured and one narrow escape is the result of a head-end collision which occurred on the Wisconsin Central railway between two freights at Howard, Wis., a small place three miles north of here, at an early hour yesterday. The dead are: Richard Warren, engineer, Chippewa Falls; Ed J. Smith, engineer, Chippewa Falls; John Smiley, fireman, Oxfordville, Wis.; Lester Ryan, stock man, Fairbault, Minn.; George Schaeffer, stockman, Fairbault, Minn. The other fireman, William Thompson, escaped. The injured are: C. H. Miller, brakeman, Chippewa Falls; William Dixon (colored), horseman; W. F. Miller, horseman.

The freights were No. 31 west-bound, loaded with general merchandise, and No. 24 east-bound, loaded chiefly with flour from Minneapolis. The west-bound freight, No. 31, was delayed somewhat and passed Irvine considerably behind time. It is supposed that the engineer, being behind, forgot that he was to pass No. 24 near that point and was consequently running through at the usual speed. The trainmen were buried beneath their engines and were taken out dead, death probably having been instantaneous. Charles Horn, conductor of No. 31, claims that he still had one minute to make the switch before the scheduled time of No. 24.

The Ottoman empire would be a more stringent system, and there is now at Constantinople a custom house more after the American style, where a number of attendants, in furs and Stamboul coats of the regular official cut, pry into one's luggage with particular care in search of papers and books and maps of a revolutionary tendency or in which words forbidden to be printed in Turkey may be found. During the height of the Armenian agitation especially close search was always made for anything with the word "Armenia" in it, and whatever it was found in was summarily confiscated. On the occasion of my last visit to Constantinople I happened to have a map of Asia Minor among my papers, the discovery of which greatly agitated the examining official, who spoke in a language he thought was French. "Ah, Asses Meenoor!" he exclaimed as he spread it out, continuing in his Turkish-French, "Show me Erzerum." Having pointed out to him the spot where that city was to be found, he began running his finger over the map until he struck upon the letter A. This seemed almost to take his breath away, but when a short distance to the right of it he found the letter R he fairly gasped. The detection of the letter M following it was like an electric shock, and a bomb explosion could not have startled him more than the discovery of the letter E. By the time he had deciphered the remaining letters, NIA, I saw that the game was up, and as he folded up my precious map and in stern and measured syllables announced to me that it was "de-fon-dew, con-fa-tay," I knew that it was lost to me forever. A Review with an article alluding to the disturbed condition of affairs in the Turkish empire followed the map, along with some foreign newspapers.—Harper's Round Table.
